LEAD YOUR REGION TO GREATER PROSPERITY
The Seed Transformation Program (STP) is a 12-month intensive leadership program for CEOs and founders in developing and emerging economies. You’ll engage directly with Stanford Graduate School of Business faculty, Seed Business Transformation Advisors, and other like-minded entrepreneurs in your region to gain the skills and mindset to innovate, grow, and scale. Are you ready to transform?

VOLUNTEER FOR A YEAR, MAKE AN IMPACT FOR A LIFETIME
Seed coaches work side-by-side with high-potential STP business leaders to help them transform their companies into industry leaders and job creators. You’ll work on the ground, in their communities—because that’s the only way real change happens. Are you motivated to make an impact?

CONSULT ON SHORT-TERM PROJECTS, MAKE A LONG-TERM IMPACT
Seed consultants work remotely with STP companies and their leaders to maximize impact and accelerate change. Volunteer your specific skills and expertise for short-term projects ranging from marketing and operations to strategy and finance. Are you ready to engage?

I had the rare privilege of being selected to consult with a company in Ghana. With no experience in Africa, I went into this assignment thinking I was a “Silicon Valley” type. Over our 10 month journey, they brought me the lessons and uplifting stories of Africa.

INTERN WITH Seed, ENGAGE WITH THE WORLD
Seed is dedicated to providing Stanford students with opportunities to explore, engage, learn, and lead. Through 8-10 week student internships at STP companies, you’ll gain hands-on work experience, immerse yourself in a new culture, and enrich your life and the lives of others. Are you inspired to make a difference?

INTERN

Both being selected to consult with a company in Ghana and be a Seed intern have been defining experiences to me. One year later, I am in the process of launching my own venture focused on automotive E, H, V, Li, and material innovations.
