This experience has been nothing short of incredible. I wanted to explore international development, and this experience gave me just that. It has been humbling, eye opening... I feel proud and rewarded by the work I have done. I have a better understanding of what inspires and motivates me.”

LOGAN RICHARD, BA ‘15 INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
THIS IS NO ORDINARY INTERNSHIP
It’s an extraordinary opportunity to explore, engage, learn, and lead. To gain hands-on work experience in a developing economy. To immerse yourself in a new culture. To make an impact.

Seed is an exciting Stanford GSB-led initiative working to end the cycle of global poverty. As a Seed intern, you can contribute directly to a company’s future, its growth, and job creation.

SUMMER 2017
SEED INTERNSHIP FACT SHEET

WHO: Stanford undergraduate and graduate students who are curious, eager, and inspired to make a difference.

WHAT: 8 – 10 week paid summer internship at a Seed Transformation Program company—a locally owned small to medium sized company that’s engaged with Stanford Seed to help grow and scale their business.

WHEN: Summer 2017 for 8 – 10 weeks. Shorter internships may be available.

WHERE: Various countries in West Africa

HOW: Learn more and apply at seed.stanford.edu
Application goes live on January 9, 2017; deadline is February 7, 2017.

Seed provides a stipend to cover roundtrip airfare, living expenses, and accommodations and provides pre-departure support with visas, vaccinations, and orientations.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT
NATE ANTOCCIA
nateantoccia@stanford.edu | 650.723.9358
SEED.STANFORD.EDU